SIR W. J. HOOKER'S REPORT ON KEW GARDENS.

Sir,

Royal Gardens, Kew, W., 1 January 1864.

AS was to be expected, the number of visitors to the Royal Gardens during the past year was below that of 1862, the year of the International Exhibition; and is as follows:—

Number on Sundays	-	-	-	-	-	-	188,484
Number on week-days	-	-	-	-	-	-	214,934
Greatest monthly attendance (July)	-	-	-	-	-	-	98,315
Smallest - - ditto (January)	-	-	-	-	-	-	1,768
Greatest week-day attendance (25 May)	-	-	-	-	-	-	11,631
Smallest - - ditto (24 November)	-	-	-	-	-	-	2
Greatest Sunday attendance (21 June)	-	-	-	-	-	-	12,441
Smallest - - ditto (11 January)	-	-	-	-	-	-	28
Good Friday (3 April)	-	-	-	-	-	-	9,798
Total	-	-	-	-	-	-	401,061

The number of intelligent visitors of all classes who frequent the Museum and Plant Houses for purposes of instruction have increased; and this has been even more the case with scientific visitors.

BOTANIC GARDENS.

The only important change effected has been in the Great Palm House, where three of the largest Palms, having reached the top of the house, 60 feet above the floor of the building, have had to be removed; this has been done without any accident, and their places filled by younger and rarer Plants.

In last year's Report I mentioned the occupation of the great Architectural Hothouse, No. 1, by the broad-leaved Aroids and other tropical plants of fine foliage. These are already growing most luxuriantly, and I anticipate that this building will eventually prove perhaps the most instructive and attractive of its kind in the Gardens. In the course of the present year it is proposed to add to its other contents a selection of tall Tree-Ferns, slender-stemmed Palms, and Economic Plants.

Measures have been taken under the direction of the Clerk of the Works to improve the condition of the ornamental piece of Water opposite the Palm House, which had become very foul during the hotter summer months; and an arrangement has also been made for a larger general supply of water. Flower-beds have been carried round the Geometric Shrubberies on the west side of the Palm House, and on both sides of the semicircular walk skirted by the yew fence. Many rare and ornamental young trees have been planted on the east side of the main walk leading from the great gates. Beds of Rhododendrons will be planted on the opposite side of the same walk. It is further intended during the ensuing summer to sink in the ground on each side of the same walk a row of such small Palms, Aloes, Cycads, and other rare and conspicuous Plants in pots (with their names) as can be safely exposed. This arrangement will, it is hoped, not only give this part of the Garden a most ornamental appearance, but also exhibit to the public a series of curious and striking exotic forms of vegetation in the most effective manner.

The Reports on the success of Mr. Markham's introduction of Cinchona Plantations in India, and in the establishment of which (including the Colonies) the Royal Gardens have taken so large a share, are very satisfactory. Mr. Markham informs me that in the Nurseries on the sites selected by him on the Nilghiri hills only three years ago, there were, on the 1st of December last, 259,396 Plants, of which 66,622 were planted out; that the tallest Plant is nearly ten feet high; that two Plants of C. succirubra are in full flower; and, further, that 6,562 Plants have been distributed to private individuals.

The Bark from some Plants has been analysed by J. E. Howard, Esq., and the results have been entirely satisfactory.

In

In the Darjeeling plantations, Himalaya, under the superintendence of Dr. Anderson, there are 8,000 Plants; and private applications for Plants have been made to that gentleman for the enormous number of 1,500,000.

In Ceylon, under the charge of G. H. K. Thwaites, Esq., there are 22,050 Plants; in Jamaica, under the care of Mr. N. Wilson, 400; and in Trinidad, under Dr. Cruger, 24 Plants. In the two latter Colonies no attempt appears to have been made as yet to increase the stock by cuttings, a method so advantageously adopted in India.

Steps have been taken, at the request of the Government of South Australia, to introduce the Cork Tree into that Colony. A large quantity of young Plants are being raised in the Pleasure Ground Nursery for transport, and will be sent out in a growing condition, in glazed cases, in the early spring. For procuring the Acorns we are indebted to Dr. Welwitsch, Messrs. Vilmorin of Paris, and H.M.'s Consuls at Oporto, Barcelona, and Marseilles.

Large collections of semi-tropical Trees and Shrubs have been sent, at the request of the Admiralty, to the once desert island of Ascension, the upper parts of which are now clothed with Trees and Shrubs, chiefly derived from Kew; and I continue to receive from Captain Barnard the most satisfactory accounts of the thriving condition of these Plants, and the consequent rapid increase of the fertility, water-supply, pasture land, and vegetable produce of the island. The Bermuda Grass especially, which was sent from this Garden several years ago, has now become the staple fodder of the place.

Large collections of Living Plants and Seeds have been sent to the Island of St. Helena, at the request of the Governor of that island.

An active correspondence and exchange of Plants has been kept up with Ceylon, Mauritius, Queensland, Calcutta, Victoria (Australia), Trinidad, and various nursery establishments at home and on the Continent.

Besides these ordinary sources of supply, valuable collections of Living Plants and Seeds have been received from the Rev. C. S. P. Parish, of Moulmayne; Mr. Hill, Government botanist in Queensland (including a Living Plant of Bowenia, a new and most remarkable Cycad); G. Mann (Government Botanist), West Africa; Dr. Welwitsch, Loanda; J. J. Monteiro, Esq., Angola; Mr. Hutton, S. Africa; and Dr. Atherstone, Graham's Town, Dr. Imray, Dominica; Dr. Hillebrand, Sandwich Islands; Commodore Lord John Hay, China and Japan; C. H. Williams, Esq., Bahia. His Grace the Duke of Wellington, germinating Seed of the Double Cocoa-nut (which, however, we have failed to rear). Dr. Kirk, Live Plants collected during Dr. Livingstone's expedition, and others in the Seychelle and Comoro Islands, &c., including Fruit of the Double Cocoa-nut.

PLEASURE GROUNDS.

The principal works to be reported on are the completion of the centre of the Temperate House, and the transfer to it of all the Plants destined for it from the old Orangery and other buildings in the Botanic Gardens. These, which are for the most part planted in the ground, have already begun to grow vigorously, and will soon present a noble appearance. The heating apparatus works well, and the construction of the building appears on the whole to be most satisfactory; the only exception that must be made is with regard to the opening and closing of the sashes of the roof, which will require more care and skill to keep in order than was anticipated by the builders.

Extensive plantations of Trees and Shrubs have been made in various parts of the Pleasure Grounds; and large beds of Rhododendrons and rare Trees and Shrubs are now being made along the banks of the new Lake.

The chief contributions to the Arboretum have been:—

Japan Seeds, from Mr. Oldham, collector for the Royal Gardens, W. J. Elliott, Esq., Sir R. Alcock, &c.

Amoor river, Chinese Mantchurian, and Siberian Seeds from the Imperial Gardens of St. Petersburg.

Australian Seeds from J. Oldfield, Esq., Dr. Mueller, Government Botanist at Victoria, and others.

Himalayan Seeds of Pines, Oaks, &c., from Dr. Anderson, F. L. S., of Calcutta, and Dr. Cleghorn, F. L. S., Inspector of Forests.

Seeds from the Nilghiri mountains, from Mr. McIvor.

Many very fine and rare green-house Plants from James Bateman, Esq., F. L. S., of Congleton.

MUSEUMS.

The old Orangery, so long condemned as a house for purposes of cultivation, and at last emptied by the transference of its contents to the Temperate House, is now chiefly occupied with the magnificent collection of Timbers, Cabinet and Furniture Woods, from the Great Exhibition of 1862. In my last year's Report I described this collection in some detail, and enumerated the Colonies and donors of the several contributions of which it consists, among which Tasmania holds the most conspicuous place for the magnitude and beauty of its specimens. Though now mostly in their places, much remains to be done during the coming year towards the fittings of the building, and the final arrangement, ticketing, and cataloguing of the collection.

The additions of importance to the Museums during the past year are :—

A specimen of Herne's Oak, presented by Her Majesty the Queen.

A collection of articles (umbrella stick, knife handles, &c.) made of Laminaria, or the stem of Laminaria buccinalis), a gigantic seaweed of South Africa. From T. G. Ghistlin, Esq.

A Fakir's richly carved drinking vessel, made of the shell of the Double Cocoa-nut, together with carved articles of Shola-pith. From the Hon. W. E. Frere, Esq., of Bombay.

Articles used as barter for Palm Oil with the natives of West Africa. From M. L. Levin, Esq.

Specimens of Pine Cones, Woods, &c., of North Asia. From Dr. Regel, Imperial Gardens of St. Petersburg.

A beautiful series of specimens, illustrating the mode of growth of the Mistletoe on Maple, Poplar, Hawthorn, &c. From Dr. John Harley, F. L. S.

Many curious and interesting tropical African vegetable products from Mr. Mann, Drs. Livingstone, Kirk, Meller, Captains Speke and Grant, &c.

A large collection of Barks used as drugs by the natives of British Guyana, collected by Mr. Appun under the orders of the Colonial Government.

HERBARIUM AND LIBRARY.

Our duties in this department have rapidly increased of late, owing to the demands made upon this establishment by the various departments of Her Majesty's Government; to the number of Plants sent to us, almost daily, for naming, and other information regarding them; to the receipt of large collections from several important Government expeditions; to the applications for assistance and advice on the part of young gardeners and others proceeding to take charge of Plantations of Tea, Cinchona, Cotton, Coffee, &c. &c., in India and the Colonies; and to the redoubled activity of the Colonies in the publication of their Floras, which, though paid for by the Colonial Government, can only be prepared at Kew, or by persons in direct and constant correspondence with its Herbaria and Museums.

I have to commence my Report on this head with the announcement of the retirement of Mr. Allan Black, so long and so well known, both here and on the Continent, as the able, assiduous, and most obliging Curator of the Herbaria. Owing to the failure of his health, brought about by over-application to his duties, he has been obliged to seek a warmer climate. Most fortunately, the curatorship of the Government Gardens at Bangalore (held by a late foreman in the Royal Gardens) fell vacant at this time, and he was at once nominated to the vacancy. Our inability to find a person capable of filling Mr. Black's place at his salary, no less than the increased duties of this department, have necessitated a re-arrangement of the present wholly inadequate staff, and a permanent addition to it. Professor Oliver, the Librarian, will henceforth take the joint duties of Keeper of the Library and Herbaria, and will have two assistants; he will at the same time continue his voluntary courses of lectures to the foremen and gardeners, which he has hitherto conducted with so much credit to himself, and benefit to our young men.

It is impossible, within the limits of the present Report, to do more than allude to the chief public duties performed at the Herbarium during the past year, which are as follows :—

Dr. Kirk, the surgeon and naturalist of Dr. Livingstone's expedition, arrived in England in October, and has been much engaged in the investigation of his large and valuable collections, both in the Museum and Herbarium.

Mr. Mann arrived in June from his three years' arduous and perilous botanical journey on the West Coast of Africa (including two ascents of the Cameroon Mountains, which he was the first to explore), as well as the Peak of Fernando Po, St. Thomas, Prince's Island, the Sierra del Crystal, &c. His Plants, amounting to about 3,000 kinds, have been all arranged and catalogued, and the duplicates distributed to the Museums of America, Paris, Austria, Prussia, Prussia, Russia, Holland, Hanover, &c. He has recently been appointed assistant curator of the Government Cinchona Plantations at Darjeeling in the Himalaya. His Mountain Plants have been described by Dr. Hooker, and are being published by the Linnæan Society.

The British Herbarium of the late W. Borrer, Esq., presented in 1862, has been arranged by Prof. Oliver.

Captain Grant's interesting collection, made during Captain Speke's expedition to Central Africa, have been brought to Kew, and have been named by Dr. Thomson, F.R.S., and published in the Appendix to Captain Speke's Travels.

Dr. Wehritsch, of Lisbon, the distinguished botanist, and explorer of the interior of Angola and Loanda, in Western tropical Africa, having been commanded by His Majesty the King of Portugal to take his collections to Kew to be named, has lately arrived with an immense Herbarium, in a most beautiful state of preservation, from those hitherto totally unknown parts of the world, of which the first set is to be presented to this Herbarium.

Sir Charles Wood, Secretary of State for India, having directed the Flora of the British possessions in India to be proceeded with on the same plan as the Colonial Floras; this work (which will contain descriptions of at least 12,000 species of plants) has been commenced in the Herbarium by Dr. Thomson, F.R.S., late Director of the Royal Gardens at Calcutta.

Of Drs. Harvey and Souders' Flora of our South African possessions, the second volume is completed, and the third is in progress.

Of the Australian Flora mentioned in my last Report (and which will extend to six or seven volumes, containing as many thousand species), the first volume has been published by its author, G. Bentham, Esq., F.R.S., and the second is making rapid progress.

The Flora of the British West Indian Islands, by Dr. Grisebach, has been completed during the past year, all but the Index. It contains descriptions of 3,000 species of Plants.

Mr. Thwaites' Enumeration of Ceylon Plants is nearly completed, and embraces upwards of 2,500 species.

The "Genera Plantarum" of Mr. Bentham and Dr. Hooker is progressing as fast as the author's other duties permit, the second part being half completed.

Dr. Hooker has been desired by the Colonial Government of New Zealand to prepare a Hand-book of the Flora of that interesting group of Plants. One volume is now in the Press, and will be published early in the spring.

The "Species Filicum" is finished in five volumes, containing upwards of 300 plates; but a Supplement is about to appear, containing the new species that have been discovered since the commencement of the publication, together with a synopsis of all known species.

The Botanical Magazine has been conducted as formerly; the 89th annual volume, containing 72 coloured figures, and descriptions of new, rare, or interesting cultivated Plants, is published.

Various papers by Mr. Bentham, Prof. Oliver, Dr. Thomson, Dr. Hooker, &c., on some of the most interesting contributions to the Herbarium, especially African and Indian Plants, have been published by the Linnæan Society of London.

Other botanists who have worked in the Herbarium during the past year are Prof. Babington of Cambridge (British Rubi); the Rev. W. W. Newbold (British Plants); Mr. Edgeworth (North-West Indian Plants); Dr. Aitcheson (Panjab Flora), &c. &c.

The principal contributions to the Herbarium have been:—

An extensive collection of Borneo Palms, collected by Hugh Low, Esq., and presented by Messrs. Low of Hackney.

Large collections of Mauritius and Madagascar Plants, made by the late Judge Blackburn, and presented by Admiral Sir W. Bowles, K. C. B.

The most extensive Herbarium of Indian Plants, made by Dr. Wight, F.R.S., during 30 years' residence in the Madras Presidency, Nilghiri Mountains, and other parts of the western Peninsula of India; and containing the original specimens from which his numerous and most important botanical works have been written. Presented by himself.

Very large and important collections made in all parts of extratropical and subtropical Australia and in Tasmania, by A. Oldfield, Esq.

The Portuguese and Azorean Herbarium of the Baron do Castello de Paiva, presented by that nobleman.

Of the numerous other accessions, the following are the most extensive and valuable:—

EUROPE.—Russia, Dr. Regel, of St. Petersburg; Germany, Dr. Schultes Bipontinus; Germany, &c., Dr. Reichenbach, of Hamburg; Switzerland, M. Boissier, of Geneva.

ASIA.—Syria, Miss Osburn; Asia Minor, Mr. Consul Zohrab; Persia, Professor Bunge, of Dorpat; Indian Archipelago, Dr. Reichenbach, and Dr. Miquel, of Leyden; Moulmayne, Rev. C. Sir,

Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 28 November 1863.

I HAVE the honour to send herewith, for the information of the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury, an Estimate of the sums that will probably be required to defray the expenditure of this Office for Paper, Printing, Binding and Stationery for the Public Service during the ensuing official year 1864-5. This Estimate amounts to 344,165*l.*, being 26*l.* in excess of the sum voted for the service of the current year. I believe I may venture to assure their Lordships that this result has been carefully arrived at. And though there must always be a good deal of conjecture in an Estimate of this sort, it being impossible to appreciate beforehand the circumstances that may conspire to increase or diminish expenditure, yet, on the whole, I believe it will turn out to be pretty near the mark.

The following comparative statement shows how the trifling excess of 26*l.* has arisen; viz. :—

ADDITIONS.		DEDUCTIONS.
	£.		£.
Parliamentary Printing - - -	7,500	Post Offices - - - - -	1,350
Miscellaneous Offices in England and Ireland, &c. - - -	1,796	Census Office Forms - - -	2,200
		Board of Trade - - - - -	500
		Constabulary, Ireland - - -	300
		Stationery Office Publications -	2,850
		Miscellaneous Offices - - -	2,070
	£. 9,296		£. 9,270
Subtract Deductions - - -	9,270
Net Increase - - - £.	26

ADDITIONS.

The only increase of charge worth alluding to is in the item of Parliamentary Printing, which was taken at 60,000*l.* in last Estimate, and at 67,500*l.* in the present. This increase has been occasioned by the expense of printing the Reports growing out of last Census, and that of various Commissions turning out to be a good deal greater than was anticipated. A sum of 8,855*l.* has already been expended on the Census Reports, and it is believed that about 4,000*l.* more will be required for their completion.

The expense of printing Reports and Evidence has also been unusually heavy. I referred in the letter which accompanied the Estimate for last year, to the Report on the Sanitary State of the Indian Army, as being then in progress. It has since been completed; and being in some respects peculiar, and serving to illustrate the general subject of Reports, it seems to merit a few remarks. The Evidence taken, and printed in connexion with this Report, was most voluminous, amounting to no fewer than 2,036 closely printed folio pages of double columns; it was also, in several parts, illustrated with plans and cuts. From first to last it was about four years in the press, and the expense attending it, including corrections, has been very large. After the Evidence had been collected, it was concluded that its publication in extenso would excite comparatively little interest in England, and 1,000 copies only were struck off, which have mostly, I believe, been sent to different parts of India. The Report, however, with a Précis of the Evidence attached to it, was printed for distribution and sale in this country, and has been very extensively read and commented upon. The Report and Précis make a moderate sized octavo volume; and by substituting it as a Parliamentary Paper, for the Report and Evidence, a considerable saving has been effected, at the same time that the valuable information contained in them has been much more widely diffused. In proof of what is now stated, I beg to subjoin a statement showing the cost of Report on the Sanitary State of the Indian Army.

1,000 copies printed (mostly for India).

If the two volumes had been presented to Parliament, an additional 1,500 copies would have had to be printed, the cost being:—

	£.	s.	d.
Vol. 1 - - - - -	2,006	10	10
Vol. 2 - - - - -	1,882	6	5
	£. 3,888. 17. 3.

Making an increase of 808 l. 5 s. 3 d., from which, deducting cost of octavo volume, containing Report and Précis, 119 l. 5 s. 6 d., there is a saving by substituting the small for the two large volumes of - - - - - £. 688. 19. 9.

It may be thought, perhaps, seeing the advantage that has resulted in this case from issuing a Précis of the Evidence rather than the Evidence itself, that this course might be generally followed. Instances of the kind referred to are not, however, common. A large proportion of the Evidence taken before Committees and Commissions bears on disputed questions; and in these no abstract or précis could be substituted for the entire Evidence. It alone can be appealed to, and it must be submitted in its integrity to those who are to estimate its value. When, however, Evidence does not involve matters affecting the rights of property or persons, but turns only on general considerations, an Abstract or Précis might probably be sufficient. But even in such cases the fairness of the latter would sometimes, no doubt, be objected to; so that, on the whole, it is perhaps better to allow this branch of the Parliamentary expenditure to continue as at present.

The subject of the corrections, or charges made in papers sent to be printed after they are in type, is one that deserves the gravest consideration. The expense which it involves is immense; and it is in nine cases out of ten almost wholly unnecessary. It is a rare thing for MSS. to be sent to us in a state fit for press. In most cases if a Report or Paper be of any considerable magnitude, portions of it are sent to be printed before other portions are sketched, or perhaps thought of; and as a practice of this sort is sure to involve great discrepancy of statements, the portions that have been originally set up are all but uniformly taken to pieces. And it also frequently happens, in cases where the entire MS. or copy is sent, that it is so imperfectly and carelessly prepared, that it has to be revised over and over again; so that in the end the cost of the corrections not unfrequently amounts to several times the cost of the composition. We have at present a Paper in the press that was sent to be printed three years ago; and of which no fewer than twenty sets of proofs have been issued, and it is not even now completed. And we have sundry other instances that are nearly as bad.

Under such circumstances it is impossible to doubt that my Lords were fully warranted in issuing their late Minute with a view to the correction of this abuse. It is intended to prevent the sending of MSS. to be printed in an incomplete and unrevised state; and if it be properly enforced, it will effect a large saving. As the abuse against which it is directed is of the most flagrant character, occasioning a great waste of the public money without being productive of any advantage, one may surely assume that it will meet with the cordial support of the heads of the different offices.

I subjoin an account showing the number of pages of Evidence, &c., at present in type at Her Majesty's printers for different Commissions still in progress.

DEDUCTIONS.

Of the deductions, that for the Post Office has been occasioned by the economised use of smaller forms, printed on a less expensive paper; an example that might be advantageously followed in other offices. The issue of census forms has, of course, entirely ceased. The saving on Stationery Office publications is a consequence of a diminished outlay on printing. There would have been a considerable diminution in the charge on account of the department of Inland Revenue, but for the anticipated re-assessment of the Income Tax. If this take place, it will occasion an expenditure of about 3,000 l.

Every year the mass of printing and correspondence is steadily on the increase; and it requires the greatest attention to confine this estimate within anything like its old limits. The moderation of the present Estimate is in a considerable degree owing to the reduced cost of the paper required for the public service. This reduction, it will be observed, has nothing to do with the repeal of the duty on paper, the effect of that measure having been exhausted two years ago. It is partly owing to the reduced weight of the paper we now employ, and partly and principally to the substitution of machine-made for hand-made papers, and to our new plan of buying paper. We had formerly gone a good way in reducing the weight of paper; yet some farther reductions have recently been effected. But by substituting machine-made for hand-made papers, and varying the manufacture of the former, savings have been effected which will this year amount to about 2,500 l. The quality of machine paper is, in truth, so greatly improved, that I doubt whether there be a single branch of the public service for which it is not perfectly suitable. Indeed, the fair presumption seems to be that hand-made papers will, at no distant period, be entirely superseded. It is said, in the "Paper Trade Review," published in Edinburgh, that "there is in many quarters a growing disbelief in hand-made qualities altogether, and this is forced on them by the superiority of the machine papers, in respect of strength, durability, and appearance." (No. for November 1863, p. 202.)

The new plan of buying papers has also contributed to reduce their price. Instead of having, as formerly, one great annual contract for the supply of paper, we had last year as many as thirty small contracts; the result being a great increase of competition, and a consequent fall of prices. I may add, that the fines charged on and paid by the paper contractors amounted, in the course of last year, to 1,634 l. 14 s. 1 d.

It should be observed with reference to the sum of 18,773 l. taken on account of this office, including the branch in Dublin, that it must not be supposed that it is wholly required for conducting the expenditure of the sums for which provision is made in this Estimate. In addition thereto, we are charged with a farther expenditure which may be taken at about 100,000 l., making our entire expenditure amount to about 450,000 l. a year. This addition to what may be called our ordinary outlay is occasioned by our providing the Government of India, and several of our Colonial Governments, with large quantities of paper and stationery which, after being bought by us and received here, are examined, packed and forwarded to their places of shipment by our people. This, of course, causes a great deal of work, and adds considerably to the sum required to maintain this office. It is material, however, to observe that the expenditure now alluded to is fully provided for by a charge of 5 per cent. for office expenses on the stationery sent to the colonies, and of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on that sent to India, the comparatively large amount of the latter making a less rate of charge, sufficient to defray the expense on its account.

And in addition to the expenditure on stationery for the Colonies and India, not provided for in this Estimate, several other offices are in the same predicament. Among these may be mentioned, the different departments of Her Majesty's Household, the Post Office Savings Banks, Greenwich Hospital and Schools, the Metropolitan Police, the British Museum, the London University, the Commissioners of National Education in Ireland, and upwards of 30 other offices and officers. And it is farther to be observed that the accounts of each of these numerous offices have to be kept separately, and rendered in detail each quarter, when they are cancelled by payments made to the Paymaster General. It is, therefore, plain that those who suppose that the 18,773 l. expended on account of this office has reference only to the sum in this Estimate, take an entirely erroneous view of the matter. And though I certainly do not presume to say that our expenditure is, in all particulars, as economical as it might be, yet I believe it would have but little to fear from a comparison in this respect with most other public establishments, or even with a good many private establishments of the same description.

The other branches of our expenditure call for little remark. I beg, however, to be permitted to say, that I retain all my old objections to our being called upon to supply pens, penknives, and such like articles for the public service. But as I have on former occasions stated the grounds on which I venture to found these objections, they need not be repeated in this place.

The sale of Stationery Office publications continues, on the whole, to be satisfactory. Those, however, that cost the largest sums, and are deemed by many to be the most valuable, have not hitherto defrayed, and, perhaps, never will defray the outlay on their production.

The collection and sale of waste paper goes on as usual. The practice commenced since I came hither; and now its produce more than defrays a third part of the cost of this department.

I have, &c.

Comptroller.

NOTES explanatory of the ESTIMATE for PUBLIC EDUCATION in the Financial Year 1864-5.

(a). The quarter in which grants fall due to a school (articles 16, 17) is frequently not the quarter in which they are paid. Apart from the time which must always elapse before the inspector's annual report on each school can be made and examined, various special causes of delay occur in individual cases, more especially in a period of transition from one system to another. For this reason, it is calculated that fully one-third of the grants paid in Scotland within the financial year 31 March 1864-5 will have fallen due before its commencement, and, consequently, will be issued conformably to the Code of 1860.

(b). This is a continuing charge, and must appear in future estimates. No further pensions are allowed.

(c, d). These figures represent the nearest estimate that can be formed of the average number of scholars in attendance at schools to be inspected within the year 31 March 1864-5; the rate per head is that given by experience since 30 June 1863 only.

(e). This number is only an approximation. Data do not exist for a precise estimate. If the year 31 March 1864-5 answers exactly to the very limited experience gained since 30 June 1863, the number of evening scholars to be paid for will be 31,487. But no winter and spring quarters (the time at which the largest number of evening scholars attend) have yet been completed under its full operation.

(f). The rate of aid for school building was reduced in the early part of 1860; all awards made under the previous higher rates have now been liquidated or have lapsed. The schools already built have probably covered a great part of the accumulated deficiency, so that the supply has now only to keep pace with the increase of population. Hence a reduction in the amount of these grants, which is likely to continue.

(g). The grants to training colleges have been placed upon a new footing; the following extract from page 13 of the last Report of the Committee of Council on Education explains the change:—

GRANTS for the MAINTENANCE of TRAINING SCHOOLS.

"There are 40 of these institutions under inspection in Great Britain, and upwards of 3,000 students resident in them. The cost to the public in 1862 was 104,700 l. 11 s. 8 d. It will be greater* in 1863, for the number of students has been increased by 332. Our predecessors in 1859 very properly directed attention to the growth of these establishments, and to their bearing upon the ultimate demand and supply of teachers. A long and anxious consideration of the subject led us to the conclusion that the only effectual escape from the dilemma of ceasing to aid the supply of teachers, or assuming the hopeless task of proportioning supply to demand, was to make the grants, which are now wholly prospective in their character, retrospective. The Minutes hitherto in force offered maintenance and an excellent education, during two years, to young persons who professed the intention of becoming teachers. Candidates upon such terms were not likely to be wanting, nor to be rejected by the managers of normal establishments which were maintained by receiving them. We have provided for the gradual introduction of a plan whereby each college will be paid for those only of its students who are fairly launched in their profession as teachers.

"The principle of our Minute is shortly this: we assume 100 l. to represent the cost of training a male, and 70 l. that of training a female student during two years; and we grant to the college five annual payments of 20 l. for each of its male, and of 14 l. for each of its female students, who, after probationary service as a teacher, obtains one of our certificates. We limit the total amount of our grant to 75 per cent. of the approved expenditure; and we also make it dependent upon the number of students for the time being in residence, lest we should be making large grants to an empty college."

(h). Provision is made for five additional inspectors, and 10 additional assistants, to help in conducting the examination of individual children. This increase represents the increasing number of schools to be aided, and the greater minuteness with which their merits are verified under the Revised Code. Inspection and examination are not merely means of distributing the public grant; they are themselves among the most effectual forms of aid to schools.

Provision is also made for adding six clerks to the establishment. The central office necessarily has to be increased in due proportion to the rest of the Committee's administration. No increase in this part of the establishment has been made since the year 1859.

(i). All annual grants to schools, and some few others of trifling amount, are paid through the Post-office, at the usual charge for commission.

(k). The Minute of 19 May 1863 is explained in the following extract from page 16 of the Report already quoted:—

"We have had occasion to notice that endowed schools often obtain grants without needing them, or the whole of them. The managers of a school endowed with 15 l. per annum who receive a grant of 15 l., have 30 l. added to their voluntary income in the same degree as the managers of an unendowed school who receive a grant of 30 l. We have decided, therefore, to treat income from endowment as relief of our grants, and, after 30 June 1864, to pay only the sums by which they exceed it."

The annual proceeds of endowment are returned at upwards of 50,000 l. per annum in schools inspected within the year ending 31 August 1862; but (for reasons given under note a, supra) a Minute which does not come into operation until 30 June 1864 will not affect more than half of the grants to be made in the financial year ending 31 March 1865; added to which it is known that large sums have been included without distinction under this head, which will not fall under the operation of the Minute of 19 May 1863, such as the Heritor's Assessment for the stipends of Parochial Schoolmasters in Scotland.

By the Minute of 11 March 1864, small rural schools are exempted from the operation of the Minute of 19 May 1863. The Minute of 11 March restricts the extent of the reduction which would have been effected by that of 19 May 1863.

NOTES on the TABLE of EXPENDITURE (A.) in p. 7.

THE figures prefixed to the following Notes correspond to those prefixed to the Heads of Account in the Table of Expenditure (A) in p. 7. Heads 4-8 do not appear separately in the Revised Code, and the numbers stated in the Notes referring to them are exclusive of all schools to which grants have fallen due since 30 June 1863, the date at which the Code of 1860 ceased to operate. But, for the reasons given in Note (a) at p. 5, a large amount of arrears accruing before 30 June 1863 have had to be paid since that date under the Code of 1860, and these arrears make the numbers given in the Notes 4-8 equal fully to three-quarters of a year.

1. The number of certificated teachers in charge of schools is 10,136; at the end of 1862 it was 9,115.
The certificate of every teacher in a school under inspection is revised at intervals of five years, and is raised or lowered according to the character of the intermediate Reports.
2. The total number of Pupil Teachers is 14,180; at the end of 1862 it was 15,752. The number of Pupil Teachers admitted in 1861 was 2,984; in 1862, 2,762; in 1863, 2,971. The period of service is for five years.
3. The number of assistant teachers, retained for three years after the end of their apprenticeship, is 461; at the end of 1862 it was 449.
- 4-5. Capitation Grants, ranging from 3s. to 6s. per annum upon each child who had attended school for 176 days during the year preceding inspection, were paid on 261,906 children, being 44·38 per cent. of the children attending 4,156 schools.
The sum of 1,110 l. 4s. 3d., paid for 5,374 night scholars, is included in these numbers. A further sum of 1,448 l. 6s. 1d. was paid for Night School Teachers.
6. The number of certificated schoolmasters and schoolmistresses who have, upon examination in drawing, satisfied the Department of Science and Art, is 894; of pupil teachers, Queen's Scholars, and others, who have passed examinations in drawing, but are not yet certificated as schoolmasters or schoolmistresses, 9,707.
7. The number of Elementary Schools under inspection, having industrial departments (land, kitchens, laundries, or work-rooms) attached to them is 148.
8. Besides the industrial departments annexed to common Elementary Schools, the number of schools, for the reception of vagrants or other children of disreputable character, aided in 1863, was 26; and the total number of children in these schools was 2,159.
9. The number of pensioners at present is 27, and 19 have received gratuities (not to be renewed) on retirement.
11. The Grants for building, enlarging, or improving the fabrics of Elementary Schools amounted to 36,681 l. 19s. 5d.; the sum voluntarily subscribed, to 128,129 l. 16s. 2d.; the number of schools built, 125; enlarged or improved, 50; teachers' residences built, 82; the number of children for whom additional accommodation in school has been provided, 27,093. The sum of 4,475 l. has been paid for the erection of Training Colleges at Bangor and Ripon, to accommodate 101 Students; sum subscribed by Promoters, 15,422 l. 8s. The amount of outstanding liabilities for Building Grants awarded, but not yet claimed, is 23,617 l. 12s. 9d.; a period of 18 months is allowed from the date of the award for claiming payment. The latter sum is exclusive of Grants to be awarded, and of which payment may be claimed, within the year 1863-64. The Grants to the Training Colleges above mentioned arose out of applications entertained before 21 January 1860, at which date such grants were discontinued; see Report of the Committee of Council on Education, 1859-60, p. xxvi., and Code of 1860, Article 184.
12. The total number of students in Training Colleges at the end of 1863 was 3,109. The number resident for 1864 is 2,689, subject to correction from the first (Lady-day) quarterly returns, not yet received. The correction will cause but little difference. The chief reduction (373 out of 420) is in Scotland, where the students are not boarded in colleges, and where their former number was admitted by the manager to be in excess.
13. Annual Subsidies were awarded, in the earlier years of the Committee's administration, to the National School Society, to the British and Foreign School Society, and to the Education Committee of the General Assembly of the Established Church of Scotland, and were afterwards continued, but without increase, or extension to other societies; at the time when they were first awarded, no other annual grants had been instituted. Such subsidies have been paid for the last time.
14. The organization of the establishment is founded (with certain modifications, approved by the Lords of the Treasury) upon the Report of the Committees of Inquiry on Public Offices, presented (1854) to both Houses of Parliament, pp. 230-243.
The total number of Elementary Day Schools visited by Her Majesty's Inspectors during 1863 was 7,739, and School-rooms under separate Teachers, 11,230. They found present, 1,092,741 children; the number found present in 1862 was 1,057,426. If 12,454 children inspected (up to 30 June 1863) in 179 Poor Law Schools, and 2,159 children inspected in 26 Industrial Schools, be added, the total number of Schools inspected in 1863 was 7,944, and children, 1,107,354.
15. The following results are derived from the examination of 180,005 children under the Revised Code.
Each child to be qualified for examination must have attended 200 times in the preceding year.
The average number of children in attendance at the 1,828 schools in which these 180,005 were examined, was 280,475.
The proportion of those presented for examination is 64 out of every 100 of this latter number.

The attendants and artisans are paid by the hour, at rates according to the nature of their duties. V. The Metropolitan Police Force has now the entire charge of watching the Museum, both internally and externally. The increase in this vote arises from the substitution of Police for Attendants, an addition to the rate of their daily pay, the great additional exhibition space, and the enormous value of the Loans of Works of Art en- trusted to the Museum. They were valued last year as worth several millions of pounds sterling. The Museum and Schools are lighted from sunset till 10 p.m., and the greatest precautions against fire are necessary. The numbers attend- ing the Museum in the evenings since the open- ing in 1857 have been 1,723,295.

EXPLANATION relating to ITEMS of INCREASE proposed to be inserted in Estimate for Year 1864-5.

(A.)—INCREASE of SALARIES to Two PROFESSORS, of 50 l. each.

THE increase is to compensate for additional duties of a most responsible nature, imposed upon the two Professors at the commencement of 1862-3, viz.: The general superintendence as to dietary, discipline, household arrangements, &c., of the three Training Establishments in Dublin and Glasnevin, in which upwards of 200 teachers are boarded and lodged by the Commissioners. The opening of seven new schools in connexion with the Central Model Schools has also imposed upon the Professors a considerable addition of responsibility and labour in their capacities as superintendents of the Model and Training Schools in Marlboro' Street.

The attendance at the whole group of Central Model Schools is now about 2,000, an increase of 50 per cent. on the attendance of former years.

(B.)—SALARIES of TEACHERS of NATIONAL SCHOOLS:

Increase - - - - - £. 8,500

(C.)—Increase - - - - - £. 1,000

The Commissioners find that a sum of 166,500 l. will be required to provide for the payment of salary to principal and assistant teachers of ordinary national schools; and that a further sum of 7,000 l. will be required for the payment of teachers of additional schools, to which grants may be made during the year 1864-5, and to meet the increase of pay to teachers, consequent on promotion, according to the scale of classification, making a total sum of 173,500 l. for this service.

The Commissioners included for the same service, in the Estimate for 1863-4, a sum of 164,000 l.; but the actual expenditure under this head for the year ending 31st March 1864 will exceed that amount by about 2,000 l. The Commissioners are happy to state that this deficiency will be provided for by savings under other heads of service.

(D.)—SALARIES OF MONITORS:

Increase - - - - - £. 4,000

The demand for the services of paid monitors so far exceeded the calculation of the Commissioners that they were obliged in September, the middle of the financial year, to make an order discontinuing the appointment of paid monitors. Notwithstanding this order, order, nearly 200 applications have been since made to us. The great advantages these appointments confer upon the young persons themselves, in assisting towards preparing them for the office of teachers, and the benefit the schools derive from their services, are generally acknowledged.

We, therefore, feel compelled to apply for an increase of 2,000 l. under this head over our Estimate of last year.

In order to perfect their monitorial system, the Commissioners are convinced that it is necessary to extend somewhat the period of the monitor's service in the school, in a few cases where the monitor exhibits great aptitude for teaching—where the school and the adult teachers are peculiarly fitted for enabling him to become an excellent teacher. At present the monitor leaves the school, for the most part, before he is sufficiently trained to undertake, himself, the conduct of a school. He is, therefore, forced in many, or most instances, to abandon the profession of teaching. This difficulty will be obviated in a great degree, and at comparatively little cost to the State, by the establishment of the new class of advanced monitors for whose payment the sum of 2,000 l. additional is required.

Besides, these superior monitors could often be employed in schools, the attendance at which is not sufficiently large to entitle them to the services of additional adult teachers, but is yet greater than can be effectively managed by the recognised teachers. In schools of this class, there is a difficulty in providing an adequate teaching staff. By the appointment of these young persons, an auxiliary power would be available at, perhaps, the least possible expenditure, in proportion to its effectiveness.

(E.)—GRATUITIES for TEACHING SINGING, &c. :

Increase - - - £. 400

The Commissioners have for many years past been anxious to promote the cultivation of singing and drawing in their schools; and they have also, acting on the opinion of their Inspectors, made arrangements to extend the study of navigation into the ordinary schools of the sea-faring population of the country. In the year 1859, they announced that, to encourage teachers to introduce these branches into their schools, annual premiums, depending on the results of their instruction would be awarded to them. The premium for instruction in vocal music varies from 2 l. to 5 l.; for instruction in drawing, from 3 l. to 10 l.; and for instruction in navigation, from 5 l. to 10 l. The operation of these arrangements is already producing most salutary and satisfactory effects. There are at present, exclusive of all Model Schools, 268 schools in which systematic instruction is given in vocal music; 64 schools in which instruction in drawing is given; and two schools in which the science of navigation is taught. The estimated expenditure to be incurred in awarding premiums to the teachers of these schools, for the services under these three heads, is about 900 l.

R E P O R T.

My Lords,

National Gallery,
16 January 1864.

I HAVE the honour to submit the Report on the National Gallery for the year ending 31st December 1863.

The present list of Trustees, in the order of their nomination, is as follows:—

The Lord Monteagle of Brandon.	William Russell, Esq.
The Lord Overstone.	Thomas Baring, Esq.
The Lord Ashburton.	The Marquis of Northampton.

The subjects of the following Report are classed in the following order:—

- I. Pictures purchased during the year ending 31st December 1863.
- II. Former purchases.
- III. Donation from Her Majesty the Queen.
- IV. Bequests and donations.
- V. Details relating to the Gallery and Establishment.

I.—PICTURES purchased during the year ending 31st December 1863.

In February 1863, a landscape, representing a view near Norwich, by John Crome, was purchased from Wm. Yetts, Esq.

In March 1863, an altar-piece, by Bernardino Lanini, was purchased from Mr. G. H. Phillips.

In June 1863, at the sale, in London, of the late Rev. Walter Davenport Bromley's collection, the four following pictures were purchased:—

- "Christ's Agony in the Garden," by Giovanni Bellini.
- An altar-piece, by Bartolommeo Suardi, called "Bramantino."
- A Madonna and Child, by Gio. Antonio Beltraffio.
- An altar-piece, by Francesco di Pesello, called "Pesellino."

A journey on the continent, undertaken with the concurrence of the Trustees, and the sanction of the Treasury, in the autumn of 1863, led to negotiations for various eligible pictures.

In September 1863, at Milan, a portrait of Gio. Christoforo Longoni, by Andrea Solario, was purchased from Sig. Baslini.

Other negotiations are still pending.

Details respecting the above mentioned pictures will be found in the Appendix (No. 2); the statement of account relating to their purchase, in the Appendix (No. 7).

II.—FORMER PURCHASES.

Of the following pictures, purchased previously to the date of the last Report, the greater number had not at that time arrived in England:—

III.—DONATION from HER MAJESTY the QUEEN.

A collection of pictures, consisting chiefly of early Flemish, German, and Italian specimens, formed or inherited by His Serene Highness Prince Louis of Oettingen Wallenstein, became the property of His Royal Highness the Prince Consort. It was His Royal Highness's wish, from the first, to present the best of those pictures to the nation. The gift was probably delayed in the expectation of a decision respecting the site of a proposed new National Gallery. The collection was meanwhile arranged in some rooms in Kensington Palace.

His Royal Highness's liberal purpose remained unaccomplished, but not forgotten, at his death. Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to carry into effect His Royal Highness's wishes, and a selection, consisting of 22 of the pictures, has been made by Her Majesty's commands. Those pictures, placed, as well as space permits, in the Gallery in Trafalgar Square, are distinguished by the following inscription: "Presented by Her Majesty the Queen in fulfilment of the wishes of his Royal Highness the Prince Consort."

A list and description of the pictures will be found in the Appendix (No. 1).

IV.—BEQUESTS and DONATIONS.

Bequests.

Portrait of William Thomas Lewis, the comedian, as the Marquis in "The Midnight Hour," by Sir Martin Archer Shee, P.R.A. (1770—1850). Painted in oil, on canvas; measure, 7 ft. 9 in. high, 4 ft. 9 in. wide. Bequeathed by Thomas Denison Lewis, Esq. Delivered in January 1863; placed in the Gallery at South Kensington in April following; numbered 677.

The intimation of this reversionary bequest, contingent upon the decease of Miss Rosa Frances Lewis, had been accompanied by a notification to the Trustees that the testator had bequeathed to the Trustees for the time being of the National Gallery a sum of 10,000 l. new Three Five per Cent. Bank Annuities, "to the intent that the dividends, interest, and annual proceeds to arise therefrom (but not the capital thereof), may be laid out for the use or objects of the said Gallery, or otherwise in the improvement of the Fine Arts, in such manner as the Trustees of such Gallery, or any Committee or Committees of the Governors or Directors thereof for the time being, shall think fit."

After communication with the Treasury as to the proper steps to be taken by the Trustees for realising this bequest, the sum of 9,072 l. 18 s. New Three per Cent. Annuities, being the balance after payment of duty and expenses, was duly transferred to four of the Trustees by name, and is now held by them on the trusts specified in the terms of the Bequest.

A subject from Spenser's Fairy Queen; "Sir Guyon preparing to overcome the Enchantments of Acrasia;" by Thomas Uwins, R.A. (1782-1857). Painted in oil, on canvas; measure, 2 ft. 4 in. high, 3 ft. 6 in. wide. Bequeathed to the Trustees of the British Museum by Apsley Pellatt, Esq. Delivered in November 1863; placed in the Gallery at South Kensington in the same month; numbered 730.

Donation.

An experiment with the air-pump; by Joseph Wright, of Derby (1734-1797). Painted in oil, on canvas; measure, 6 ft. high, 8 ft. wide; figures life-size. Presented by Edward Tyrrell, Esq. Delivered in June 1863; placed in the Gallery at South Kensington in August following; numbered 725.

V.—DETAILS relating to the GALLERY and ESTABLISHMENT.

Pictures protected with Glass.

During the year 1863, 14 pictures have been protected with glass. Appendix (No. 3).

Pictures repaired and varnished.

No. 338. "The Meeting of Abraham's Servant with Rebekah," by Hilton. Portions of the surface having become much cracked, the picture was lined and repaired in February 1863. It was replaced in the Gallery at South Kensington in April following.

No. 182. "Heads of Angels," by Sir Joshua Reynolds. The surface having indicated a tendency to chip, the picture was lined and repaired in June 1863, and was replaced in the Gallery at South Kensington in the same month.

No. 332. "The Peep o'Day Boy's Cabin," by Sir David Wilkie. The dark portions having been much disfigured with cracks, the picture was repaired in July 1863; it was replaced in the Gallery at South Kensington in August following.

Number of Visitors to the National Gallery.

Details relating to this subject, relating to Copying in the National Gallery, and relating to the Sale of Catalogues, will be found in the Appendix (Nos. 4, 5, and 6).

Details relating to the Establishment.

A separate approach to the rooms, containing a portion of the National Gallery at South Kensington, having been rarely used by the public and students, and having, consequently, been closed as an ordinary entrance, the expense of the two constables, chiefly employed at such entrance, is now unnecessary. Accordingly, the cost of police connected with the National Gallery at South Kensington has been reduced from 406 l. 4 s. in 1863-4 to 251 l. 16 s. in the present Estimate.

The general account relating to the establishment is, by direction of the Treasury, periodically submitted to the Commissioners of Audit.

To the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury.

I have, &c.
(signed) C. L. Eastlake.

The Expenditure of the year somewhat exceeds that of the one preceding, caused by the additional rent of the four new branches, and the expense necessarily incurred in fitting them up; they have so far been satisfactorily productive.

(2.)

Children's Employment Commission (1862),
7 December 1863.

Sir,

I AM directed by the Commissioners to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th instant, requesting me to prepare and transmit to you as soon as possible an estimate of the sum which will be required to defray all the expenses of the Commission of Inquiry into the Employment of Children and Young Persons, from its commencement to its termination, accompanied by a statement of the date of the Commission, of the progress which the Commissioners have made in the inquiry entrusted to them, and of the probable time which it will take to complete the inquiry.

In reply I have to state, for the information of Secretary Sir George Grey, that the Commission was dated on the 18th February 1862;—that the Commissioners commenced their sittings as soon as an apartment was ready for them;—that, under their direction, the Assistant Commissioners entered upon investigations into several large and important manufactures, and that the Commissioners presented their First Report to Her Majesty on the 2d June 1863.

In paragraphs 596, 597 and 598 of their First Report, the Commissioners state the trades and manufactures which were there the subject of inquiry, and others which remained for investigation.

The following trades, and many others, have been recently investigated, or are now in course of investigation, by the Assistant Commissioners:—

The making of—

Machinery.	Iron and Steel.	Silk.
Glass.	Brass.	Millinery.
Pins.	Wire and Nails.

The reports of the Assistant Commissioners on some of these trades are now in the hands of the Commissioners, who entertain a confident expectation that they will be able to present their Second Report to Her Majesty at or about the meeting of Parliament. I am further instructed to say that the Commissioners are not yet in possession of sufficient information to enable them to speak with confidence as to the probable time it will take to complete the inquiry entrusted to them, and therefore they can only give an approximate estimate of the sum that will be required to defray all the expenses of the Commission. This estimate does not differ from that which the Commissioners instructed me to submit to Secretary Sir George Grey on the 25th day of November 1862.

The Commissioners believe that they will be in a position to present their final Report within three years from the date of the Commission; and, assuming this anticipation to be well founded, the sum that will be required to defray all the expenses of the Commission, from its commencement to its termination, will be about 5,700*l*.

H. A. Bruce, Esq.

I have, &c.
(signed) P. Selby, Secretary.

From the same, 1 February 1864.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 30th January 1864, requesting me to prepare and transmit to you an estimate of the sum that will be required to defray all the expenses of the Children's Employment Commission, from the 1st April 1864 to the 31st March 1865, and I am instructed to state, for the information of Secretary Sir George Grey, that the sum of about 1,950*l*. will be required during that period.

A large proportion of the yearly expense of this Commission depends on the amount required by the Assistant Commissioners to defray their travelling expenses, and for their subsistence allowances; these are fluctuating items, of which an approximate estimate only can be formed; but judging from the experience of the past two years, the Commissioners believe that the above estimate will be found very nearly correct.

SEA FISHERIES COMMISSION.

Sir,

6, Adelphi-terrace, W.C., 12 December 1863.

IN reply to the several requests contained in your letter of the 4th instant, I am directed by the Royal Commissioners appointed to inquire into the condition of the Sea Fisheries of the United Kingdom to state to you, for the information of Secretary Sir George Grey, that the first Commission for inquiry into the condition of the Sea Fisheries was dated the 11th of July 1863, and that this was cancelled by a second Commission, dated the 21st of September 1863, which was issued on the appointment of a third Commissioner in the place of Lord Hobart, who had resigned.

By the close of the present year the Commissioners will have visited all the principal fishing stations from the Tweed on the north-eastern to Plymouth on the south-western coasts of England, except a few places within easy access of London, and connected with special points of inquiry.

Taking into consideration the other public claims on the time of the Commissioners, and the comprehensive character of the inquiry (extending to all the coasts of Great Britain and Ireland, and including all kinds of sea fishing), it is not probable that the Commissioners will finish their labours in less than three years from the commencement of their work; and, judging from their past expenditure, they would approximately estimate the entire working expenses, subsistence money, reporting and transcribing fees to the paid Commissioners and secretary's salary, but excluding the printing account, at between 5,000 l. and 6,000 l.

I am, &c.

H. A. Bruce, Esq.
&c. &c. &c.(signed) E. W. H. Holdsworth,
Secretary.

From the same, 5 February 1864.

IN reply to your communication of the 30th ultimo, I am directed by the Royal Commissioners to state to you, for the information of Secretary Sir George Grey, that they consider the sum of about 1,500 l. will be necessary to defray the total working expenses of the Sea Fisheries Commission between the 1st of April 1864 and the 31st of March 1865.

MINES INQUIRY.

Sir,

Whitehall, 18 February 1864.

I AM directed by Secretary Sir George Grey to acquaint you, for the information of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, with reference to your letter of the 27th ultimo, that the sum of 1,600 l., in addition to the sums already voted, will be required to defray the expenses of the Mines Inquiry Commission for the year 1864-5.

I am, &c.

G. A. Hamilton, Esq.

(signed) H. A. Bruce.

My Lords,

Office of Works, &c., S.W., 29 April 1864.

THE accompanying Estimate is for the erection of the National Gallery on the site purchased by the Government in Piccadilly. The site consists of about three and a half acres, of which one-half is occupied by Burlington House, with its two wings and its colonnade, and by the courtyard which they surround. These buildings are occupied by the Royal Society, the University of London, the Linnæan Society, and the Chemical Society; and the large hall is used for the meetings of the Geographical and other learned Societies. These buildings need not be disturbed at present, since the garden which occupies half of the site will furnish ample accommodation for the pictures, ancient and modern, belonging to the trustees of the National Gallery, and also for the additions to the collections which may be expected by gift, and purchase, for many years to come. Whenever, however, a large increase of space may be required, Burlington House and its wings will be pulled down to make room for an extension of the National Gallery; and in the meantime the courtyard will make a handsome and convenient approach to the main entrance of the new building, which will be through the central hall of Burlington House.

The proposed building will be 300 feet long, and 218 feet wide. That part of it which will be devoted to the exhibition of pictures will be of one story, lit from the ceiling, and will provide 3,000 lineal feet of wall-space in a horizontal line, exclusive of doorways, and 36,200 superficial feet of floor space. The larger galleries will be 40 feet wide, and 40 feet high; and the rooms for small pictures will be 21 feet wide, with a proportionate height.

The only external elevation that will be visible will be at the northern side in Burlington Gardens, where the Board-room and offices of the trustees and the residence of the keeper will be placed in two stories, and where there will be a public entrance. On the southern side, where the level of the ground is lower, there will be a useful basement story, and the whole building will be of fireproof construction.

The Right Hon. the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury.

I am, &c.
(signed) W. Cowper.

Note.—The increase in the amounts required under Heads (B.) (C.) and (D.), is, to the extent of 12,663 £., due to an alteration in the mode of preparing the Estimate, and in dealing with certain sums received from the Board of Trade. The officers and clerks in London, Liverpool, and the out-ports generally, are partly employed in the collection of light dues, and in other duties under the Board of Trade. A proportionate charge is made upon that department, and out of the sum transferred to the Customs a portion has been allotted to some officers as special allowances, whilst the remainder has hitherto been appropriated in diminution of the gross amount of the officers' salaries, under the several Heads. The full amount of the salaries and allowances is, however, now applied for, and the sum received from the Board of Trade will be carried to account as Customs Revenue.
